

The International Public Safety Association offers fee training October 1 – 5 during its Fall 2018 Webinar Week

Goodyear, Arizona – August 30, 2018

The International Public Safety Association opened registration for its Fall 2018 Webinar Week, a free week-long, remote training event open to everyone. This timely and important event is a significant cross-disciplinary training opportunity for all public safety officials, from senior level executives to the first responders who arrive on-scene. Webinar Week runs from October 1 – October 5. The cost to attend is free. <https://www.joinipsa.org/Webinar-Week-Agenda>

The event will host several distinguished experts and first responders from various public safety disciplines. Below are some selected presentations on the agenda:

1. Fire suppression during an active shooter, violent incident by Battalion Chief J. Scott Quirarte, Ventura County Fire Department
2. Becoming a resilient bleed safe community: How to train citizens and first responders to stop the bleed by Chief (ret.) Rob Wylie, Dr. Josh Bobko and Bill Harris, NREMT-P, First Care Provider,
3. How to recognize domestic violence and advocate for others by Ms. Amy Morgan, MSC., Academy Hour

“With agency training budgets always stretched, webinars are a great way to expose our employees to vital information to advance their public safety skills. The IPSA webinars have been full of thought-provoking information and how the public safety industry is leading change in several disciplines,” said Christopher Butler, IPSA Board Member and Commander (retired) Calgary Police Services.

Sponsorship opportunities are available to help support the IPSA’s efforts in bringing this week-long event to the public safety community. <https://www.joinipsa.org/Webinar-Week-Sponsorship>
